Special Note regarding Planning Advisory Services, Conservation Authorities Act Permits and Technical & Environmental Reviews

On December 12, 2024, the Minister of Natural Resources directed Ontario’s Conservation Authorities to not change the amount for fees charged related to reviewing and commenting on planning and development related proposals or land use planning policies, or for permits issued by conservation authorities. This direction is intended to support less costly approvals to help increase housing supply and affordability in Ontario. This extends previous directions issued in 2023 and 2024.

The fees charged by the Raisin Region Conservation Authority for these services will continue to align with the rates approved by the Board of Directors in 2022.
